This year Memorial Day, when we pause to reflect on the sacrifices of our fallen veterans, has special historic significance. In 2015, Memorial Day will fall between the 70th Anniversary of VE Day (Victory in Europe) and the 70th Anniversary of VJ Day (Victory over Japan) on September 2 – the end of World War II. On May 8, 1945 the world celebrated VE Day that marked Victory in Europe in World War II. Seventy years ago, England's Prime Minister Winston Churchill gave a speech in which he summed it up...

"This is the lesson: never give in, never, never, never, never – in nothing, great or small, large or petty—never give in except to convictions of honor and good sense. Never yield to force; never yield to the apparently overwhelming might of the enemy. God bless you all. This is your victory!"

By August 1945 the worst war in human history came to an end. Finally, many Americans and Allied soldiers would return from captivity in German and Japanese POW camps and demobilization would follow as the troops began to come back to the states and be re-united with their families.

Over the course of just under four years, over 16 million American men and women had served in some capacity in the war. Just over 400,000 mostly young Americans would never return from their duties in the Second World War. Some Americans will pay a visit to cemeteries such as Arlington and many more around the world. Many who paid the ultimate price are, however, buried overseas in 24 different overseas cemeteries in eleven different countries.

In the spring of 1945 Americans were discovering the horrors of the Nazi concentration Camps. After American Supreme Allied Commander, Dwight D. Eisenhower, visited Ohrdurf Concentration Camp that had been liberated by American troops on April 4, he declared: “We are told that the American soldier does not know what he is fighting for. Now at least he will know what he is fighting against.”

This is why we must always remember and teach our children about the sacrifice of our Veterans and the eternal significance of Memorial Day to freedom-loving people here in the U.S. and around the world.

The crew working on hotel projects in Oregon have some “fishing instead of just wishing” time!

Company Kudos

Russ received a letter this month from Wendy Albert, Chef and Owner of Tempo Restaurant in Alexandria, Virginia, letting us know how happy they were with the toilet we installed for them. Here's what Wendy had to say:

"I can't tell you how impressed we are with the water saving toilet that Water Management installed in our ladies bathroom. It's incredible; it flushes and fills before you can soak your hands with water and soap to wash them! Great job!"

Noteworthy News

Congratulations to Mike and Tari Maurer whose son, Luke, graduated on May 9th cum laude with a Bachelor's degree in Accountancy from the Patterson School of Accountancy at the University of Mississippi.

Luke will enter graduate school this fall at Ole Miss and continue working towards his Master of Accountancy degree. Mike and Tari are very proud of their son and his accomplishments.

Summer Interns are Here!

Alex Cimini and Andrew Oakes just finished their junior years and are back with us again this summer to help out in Ops and with the 3rd Bay clean-up project. We plan on leasing out space in the 3rd Bay (behind the curtain), and will be transferring inventory to the main warehouse area, and getting rid of unneeded items.

Alex is at Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, VA, majoring in Health Science and Nutrition and Andrew is majoring in Biology at Randolph Macon College in Ashland, VA. Alex started interning the week of May 11th and Alex started back on May 26th.

Leah Taylor is the eldest daughter of our very own Dave Taylor. Leah started interning on May 11 and will be working with Accounting, as well as training and helping out in other areas of the company, such as the Front Desk, HR and Sales. Leah just finished her freshman year at University of Mary Washington in Fredericksburg, VA.

John Rangel's family are neighbors of Russ and Yvonne, and his older brother Alex interned here a few summers ago when he was still in college. John just finished his second year of school at Elon University in Elon, North Carolina where he is working on a major in Accounting and a double minor in Economics and Political Science. John started interning on May 27th and will be working closely with Russ on company projects.

An Intern's Perspective

by Leah Taylor

I have been interning at Water Management Inc. for about three weeks now and have so far been exposed to the ways in which a small corporation such as this one handles daily operations. Through working in the accounting department, I have seen all of the different types of effort that are required by various people to keep everything in order monetarily. I've been asked to handle reception at times, and by this I have further developed my customer service and speaking skills. One day I even got to go out in the field to Maple Ridge with Mark Harewood to experience what services are provided to customers by the company on a day-to-day basis. The people performing the laborious tasks of installing and uninstalling toilets had a good attitude to accomplish efficiently and without any complaints.

My tasks have varied since I've been here, but I have done a lot of filing and working with spreadsheets in accounting as well as miscellaneous tasks like mailing and sorting in I.T. I've learned through my time here that many of the employees have worked here for a very long time, and I can see why. The work environment is pleasant yet challenging. The employees here seem enthusiastic to perform their duties to help the company progress. I am thankful for my opportunity to work here at an office such as this alongside such good-hearted people. I know that I have already developed skills that will help me in my future career and I wish the company the best in its future endeavors.
